Association for Negro Advancement Denounced by Representatives Clark and Sears Before Census Committee.

PREYS ON SOUTHERN NEGROES, IS CHARGE

"Has Never Done Anything That Hasn't Injured Honest Negroes," Is Declaration of Clark.

Washington, January 5.—The National association for the Advancement of Colored People was denounced by Representative Clark, Democrat, of Florida, today, as being composed of "meddling, fussing persons working on the ignorant negroes of the south." Persons who made charges before the house census committee that negroes were prevented from voting in Florida were described by Mr. Clark as "New York negroes who are feasting and fattening on the honest negroes of the south."

Representatives of the society who made similar charges, "have never done a thing that hasn't injured the negroes of the south," the Florida representative said, "and their actions have made for racial clashes. They seek only to keep themselves in good jobs, and are not really interested in the welfare of the negro."

Presenting further denial before the census committee that Florida election officers had abridged the rights of negroes to vote, Representative Clark presented a telegram from Mayor Martin, of Jacksonville, declaring that no negroes were deprived of the vote there on November 2, and another from J. Seth Hill, a negro physician, stating he had voted on election day. Mr. Clark said Florida's election laws were fair and were justly administered and read a telegram from the supervisor of Orange county stating the negro over whom the Ocoee race clash occurred November 2 was not a qualified voter.

Representative Sears, also of Florida, entered a general denial of the accusations against his state, declaring there was no discrimination in Florida against the negro.

ON HUNGER STRIKE TO FORCE HUSBAND TO ENTER CHURCH

Danville, Ill., January 5.—Still refusing to take food because her husband "has no religion," Mrs. Ernest S. Harrington today entered the thirty-eighth day of her fast. She allowed a physician to examine her, but refused his efforts to administer medicines. She insisted God had told her to fast and pray, and repeated she was determined to force her husband into the church. "I will continue fasting and praying until God grants my prayer," she said today. "The Lord talked to me on May 15 and told me to do this," she said, "for while my husband is not a bad man, he has no religion and said this would be the means of converting him." The physician who examined the woman said he found her pulse and temperature normal. He also said she had not lost flesh. "I do not believe in her kind of religion, and besides, I am not ready to join church," she said. "If she wants to starve herself to death, that's her business."

Policy for $5,000 Insurance Played Part in Romance

"Was an Inducement to Marriage," Says Mrs. Edith St. John Harrell, Whose Husband Committed Suicide.

A $5,000 life insurance policy played a large part in the romance of Mrs. Edith St. John Harrell and Albert R. Harrell, who shot himself to death December 4, according to an injunction filed in the superior court by Mrs. Edith Harrell, now widow of the deceased, in an effort to prevent two minor daughters of Harrell by a former marriage from collecting the insurance. Judge John T. Pendleton set the hearing on the injunction for January 8 at 9:30 o'clock and in the meantime enjoined the New York Life Insurance company from paying the policy until after the hearing.

Another development in the tangled affairs of Harrell, his former wife, Mrs. Ruby Wight Harrell Hudson; his widow, Mrs. Edith St. John Harrell, who is the divorced wife of W. G. St. John, and Harrell's two children, was the filing by Mrs. Hudson of a bill for divorce against a local automobile concern to get possession of a Chandler sedan, which, according to Harrell's will, was left to the two children. The company replied Wednesday to the bill that the car was not in its possession.

The company replied Wednesday to the bill that the car was not in its possession.

Although the ordinary has appointed Mrs. Hudson, another court order was taken Wednesday making her the guardian for the children in the litigation over the $5,000 life insurance policy, of which they were the beneficiaries at the time of their father's death.

According to the injunction of July, 1920, Harrell promised her son, who was still Edith St. John, that if she would marry him at some date in the future he would transfer and assign the policy to her, "the inducement and consideration therefore being that she in the future become his wife."

The court record of the divorce decree secured by Mrs. Harrell from her former husband, St. John, shows that she did not get her divorce until October 8, 1920.

The petition of Mrs. Harrell further sets out that on July 16, 1920, he asked the insurance company to assign the policy to her, Edith St. John, the beneficiary and the company named her as such. She states further that she accepted Harrell's proposal of marriage October 8 and the "physical custody of the policy" and became engaged to him and married him on October 15, 1920.

She claims that the "transfer, assignment and delivery of the policy was an inducement to such marriage."

Official Favors Admitting Irish Mayor to Country

Washington Officials, Puzzled Over Procedure, Expected to Confer With British Embassy.

Norfolk, Va., January 5.—Recommendation that Daniel O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, be admitted to the United States was made this afternoon by E. R. Schumaker, chief inspector in charge of the immigration district embracing Norfolk and Newport News.

Lord Mayor O'Callaghan cannot be classed as an undesirable immigrant, Inspector Schumaker stated today. The only law he has violated is the one which prohibits the admission of persons who have been deported from the United States. The effort is to establish a smoother working understanding and co-ordination between the senate and the white house, and eliminate it possible a supremacy at either end of the avenue. STATE DEPARTMENT TO CONSIDER MATTER.

Washington, January 5.—Immigration officials here, in conjunction with officials of the state department, are overworked with the problem presented them tomorrow through the appearance in this country of Daniel J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who arrived at Newport News without the conventional passport.

The companion of the lord mayor, Peter MacSwiney, brother of the late mayor, presents no problem, as he is said to be an American citizen. Although MacSwiney left this country without a passport, he is said to be entitled to enter it in any fashion he pleases, that the Willard commission on conditions in Ireland had invited O'Callaghan to appear before its membership and give testimony. That was some months ago. When no word had been received from the mayor, hope of his visit was abandoned.

BOYKIN REFUSES TO GIVE EVIDENCE TO POLICE BOARD

Will Complete Investigation and Prosecution of Cases in Court First, Says the Solicitor.

NO PERSONAL FEELING IN MATTER, HE SAYS

Had Nothing to Do With Grand Jury Presentments, He Claims—Did Not See Them Until Printed.

A flat refusal by Solicitor John A. Boykin to disclose or release to any individual or any commission evidence now in his possession and upon which the November term grand jury presentments were based, until he had completed the court cases growing out of the evidence in question and completes his investigation met the demand yesterday of the police commission that the solicitor turn over to the commission this testimony and evidence.

The exact time at which he will be at liberty to give such information to the commission could not be determined at this time, according to the solicitor, as it depends on certain circumstances over which he has no control.

He stated that he did not think that any man had the right to ask a prosecuting attorney to make his evidence public before trial. He pointed out that the prosecution of a large number of people, some now under bond and some not yet committed, were involved. In addition to the indictments already returned under seal the solicitor intimated that other indictments would be asked, based on the evidence that Mr. Chambers has asked for.

Entire U. S. Navy Now Mobilizing In Canal Waters

Atlantic Fleet, Screened by Destroyers, Steams Southward to Join Sister Armada of Pacific for Elaborate Maneuvers.

Washington, January 5.—Screened by destroyers, the Atlantic fleet was steaming southward to meet its sister armada from the Pacific in the warm waters of Panama bay. Over the battleship Pennsylvania flew the four-starred flag of Admiral H. E. Wilson, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, who will command the combined forces during the maneuvers and battle practice to come.

There were forty-eight craft under Admiral Wilson's command at the mobilization point off the cape when the fleet broke out to the signal that set the fleet off on its long cruise. Ahead of them, sent in advance to meet the Pacific fleet, the air force of the Atlantic had winged southward to join in the great war game.

Wilson's Main Column. With the Pennsylvania, eight dreadnoughts made up Admiral Wilson's main column, while the tender Black Hawk, shepherded eight destroyers thrown ahead and ahead to screen the movement of the ships of the line. Astern trailed the mine planters San Francisco, bound back to Pacific waters for the first time since she was launched at the city by the Golden Gate and flying the flag of the commander of the mine force. Two mine layers and two mine sweepers rolled on in her wake. In shore, the old cruiser Olympia, belled at the head of the supply train.

Aboard the fleet were thousands of young jacks destined to see the Panama canal for the first time when the ships go through to join Admiral Hugh Rodman's Pacific fleet on the Pacific side. It will be the first mobilization of the full commissioned strength of the navy since the Pacific fleet was created soon after the armistice ended hostilities with Germany and set the major fighting craft free from war-time missions. Elaborate plans for the maneuvers have been made, involving, it is understood, some practical test of the use of the canal for purposes of naval strategy.

On West Coast. Maneuvers completed, the combined fleet will turn southward down the coast of South America, carrying to the people of that coast their first sight of a modern fighting fleet. One section will call at Callao, the other at Valparaiso, before the squadrons rejoin and return to Panama bay for winter drills, to give the people a chance to see more of the canal and its workings.

Toward spring the Atlantic fleet will slip back through the canal into its own ocean, bound for its old-time base at Guantanamo, Cuba, for more drills and polishing up of the crews, who have on their northward voyage been in the north again to Atlantic ports. The Pacific fleet will cruise to its spring maneuvers and fleet target practice off the California coast.

STREET CAR MEN GIVEN TWO CENTS PER HOUR RAISE

Satisfactory Agreement Reached Between Company and Employees, After Several Weeks of Negotiations.

MORE THAN 1,100 MEN AFFECTED BY INCREASE

Higher Wages Will Cost Georgia Railway and Power Company $75,000 Annually—Statement Is Given Out.

Deciding upon a two-cent-per-hour increase for the motormen, conductors and maintenance-of-way men, shopmen and workers in the yards covered by former annual contracts, President P. S. Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and President W. B. Hones, of the Atlanta Local No. 732, Street Railway Employees' union, Wednesday afternoon gave out a joint statement announcing that negotiations between the company officials and the heads of the union had resulted in an agreement for 1921 which is satisfactory to all concerned.

The increase of two cents per hour agreed upon by the street railway men and the union heads affects between 1,100 and 1,200 men, and will involve an annual additional payroll expenditure of $75,000 on the part of the street railway company.

New Scale of Pay. The new scale of pay incorporated in the 1921 contract between the company and the street railway employees is based upon the number of months of service, and is graduated as follows:

For first three months' service, 44 cents per hour.
For next nine months' service, 46 cents per hour.
After one year in service, 48 cents per hour.

This is an increase of two cents over the scale of 42c, 44c, 46c, granted the car men in the early spring of 1920 by an arbitration board. This scale the men at first refused to accept, going on upon a four-day strike that completely paralyzed the city transportation system.

The agreement for 1921 was signed in the office of President P. S. Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway and Power company, Wednesday afternoon following a meeting Tuesday night and Wednesday morning of the car men at the Red Men's wigwam on Central avenue. The new scale of pay had been the subject of negotiations for several weeks. The leaders met Wednesday with Mr. Arkwright in the office of the company, where the agreement was signed.

Statement Is Issued. P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and W. B. Hones, president of Local No. 732 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, then gave out the following joint statement:

The negotiations between the company and the employees have been conducted in a spirit of mutual satisfaction of both the company and the employees. The new contract for the year 1921 was signed today and covers the wages for motormen and conductors in the year 1921 will be as follows:

For the first 3 months in service, 44c per hour.
For the next 9 months in service, 46c per hour.
After 1 year in service, 48c per hour.

This represents an increase of 2c per hour over the wages which prevailed in the year 1920. A similar increase of 2c per hour was granted the car men in the early spring of 1920 by an arbitration board. The new scale of pay had been the subject of negotiations for several weeks. The leaders met Wednesday with Mr. Arkwright in the office of the company, where the agreement was signed.

WHITE SAYS G. O. P. REVERSED STAND ON WAR FINANCE

Columbus, Ohio, January 5.—Democratic National Chairman George White in a statement here today declared the action of congress in overriding President Wilson's veto on the measure re-establishing the war finance corporation is a "complete reversal of the stand of the republicans, who have on the basis of the claim that President Wilson has been bringing to himself unusual powers and authority by re-establishing a body with such automatic powers as the war finance corporation."

Mr. White also expressed an opinion that this action of congress is an attack upon the federal reserve system, and that it will upset eventually much of the readjustment that has been taking place gradually throughout the country.

Mr. White reiterated his desire to retire as chairman of the national committee, and said that he intends to do so as soon as someone can be obtained who will be in position to give his entire time to the party's affairs.

Yes, sub. Judge Johnson, chimed in the prisoner at the bar. "Day's done gone 'an' got me bar, I guess."

Judge George Johnson thereupon fixed a band of $500 for George Johnson, colored, for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

SCATHING ATTACK ON ALL EXCHANGES MADE BY BARRETT

Chairman of National Bureau of Farm Organizations Pleads for Abolishment of Speculation.

DEALING IN FUTURES JUST PLAIN GAMBLING

Georgian Terms Stock and Cotton Manipulators "Predatory Parasites." Address Was Before House Committee.

Washington, January 5.—Charles A. Barrett, of Georgia, chairman of the national bureau of farm organizations, created a sensation today by a stirring and intensely caustic address at the hearing on the various bills pending to abolish stock and cotton exchanges. Among other things, Mr. Barrett said:

"The great staple crops of this nation are controlled by a group of predatory gamblers who are mercilessly robbing farmers and city people alike. I am appearing before this committee today to urge congress to wipe out this great evil."

"Organized speculation is a polite name for gambling. Gambling is merely one form of stealing, therefore, when we get down to brass tacks speculation is just plain every day stealing."

"Stealing is the acquiring of your neighbor's property without giving any return either in money, property or service. Isn't that precisely what speculation attempts to do, which makes the professional gamblers and thieves look like pikers?"

"The world has long suffered from the predatory parasites who call themselves speculators, but it remained for the nineteenth century to permit them to organize themselves into powerful 'exchanges,' so-called and properly so, for they most successfully exchange their paper contracts for the hard earned money of the general public."

Paper Contracts. "It does not matter whether it is cotton, or corn, or wheat, or sugar, or anything else, it is the same."

Memorial Arch Planned at Park For L. P. Grant

Commissioners Approve Proposed Honor for the Donor of Property, the Cost to Be Borne by Public Subscription.

A proposed design, submitted by John Francis Downing and E. A. Houser, Atlanta architects, for the erection of a beautiful memorial arch at Grant park in memory of the late L. P. Grant, donor of the park to the city, was accepted Wednesday by the board of park commissioners, whose members also gave their approval to a suggestion that the structure be built by popular subscription.

After viewing the architect's perspective of the memorial, which was on exhibition at the meeting, the board was unanimous in its acceptance of the plan and architectural beauty of the monument.

Tentative suggestion contemplates erection of the memorial spanning the Cherokee avenue entrance to the park, near the present cypress. If built according to designs of the architects the monument would be of Greek architecture, 43 feet high, with an arch span 30 feet in height and 22 feet between massive columns. These and the span would be constructed of reinforced concrete trimmed with elaborate limestone. Elaborate and ornamental figures would adorn the arch.

Bas Relief of Grant. At one side of the arch would be a bronze bust in bas relief of Mr. Grant, and on the other a bronze tablet containing a history of the donor and his magnificent gift to Atlanta. The bust is to be made by Allen G. Newman, of New York, the noted sculptor who executed the peace monument at Piedmont park. The landscaping about the memorial will be done by Mr. Houser, and will include ornamental lighting. Estimates of the architect put the cost of the memorial at approximately $50,000.

The plan for fitting commemoration of Mr. Grant's great public benefaction was originated several years ago by H. F. Garrett, now vice president of the board, who suggested that the monument be built by popular subscription.

Widowers' and Widows' Social Club of Ohio Asks Incorporation

Columbus, Ohio, January 5.—The Widowers' and Widows' Social Club of Cuyahoga county, through State Representative Charles Brenner, of Cleveland, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state today.

The papers state the club is organized "for the educational and social benefit of its members," but that it was organized for the purpose of bringing together lonely widows and widowers with a view to matrimony. Brenner stated that there are about 250 members of the club and that the marriage of the members eliminates them from the club.

Murder Charge Dropped And Woman in Death Car Gives Bond as Witness

Mrs. Emma Cooper Says That She Does Not Know Where Alleged Driver Is, But Is Willing to Testify Whenever Wanted.

POLICE STILL SEEKING DRIVER OF AUTOMOBILE

State Does Not Show Its Hand at Preliminary Trial, Although Number of Material Witnesses Were Ready to Testify.

The murder charge against Mrs. Emma Cooper, who has been held by DeKalb county authorities in connection with the death of Madge and Mary Elizabeth Guinn last Friday, was dismissed after a short preliminary hearing before Justice C. L. Pattillo Wednesday afternoon in Decatur, and she was permitted to return to her home in Atlanta on a $500 bond as a material witness.

"Developments in the case are dependent upon the success of the police in finding Thad Pickle, declared by Mrs. Cooper to have been her companion and driver of the death car on the afternoon of the fatal tragedy in Oakhurst. Mrs. Cooper stated immediately following the dismissal of the murder charge: 'I know nothing of the whereabouts of Thad Pickle, but I will testify any time that the authorities may want me. I am going home to my daughter's and my work and can be found at 230 Luckie street whenever I am wanted.'"

Material Witnesses Ready. The state did not disclose its hand at the hearing in Decatur, producing no witnesses and giving no intimation of the probable course of action beyond the finding of Pickle. It is known, however, that there are a number of material witnesses held in readiness for the time that authorities decide to prefer charges. At the hearing Wednesday it developed that Thad, Ben and Fayette Pickle are one and the same name. Whether these various names are aliases or merely nicknames could not be learned.

Attorney W. T. Buchanan, representing Mrs. Cooper, stated Wednesday that no indictment will be found against his client and that she would merely be used as a witness when the time comes.

Few Spectators Present. The preliminary hearing was held upstairs in the DeKalb county courthouse, where there were few spectators. Mrs. Cooper was dressed in black and evinced the same nervousness which has characterized her speech and manner since arrested. She told the same pathetic story, which has been published, of her connection with the death of the two little girls.

Her testimony was given with such convincing sincerity that when Justice Pattillo offered her bond two Decatur citizens, W. R. Jones and T. J. Anderson, volunteered to sign the paper.

Only one character witness was introduced by the defense, Mrs. Bragg, boarder at Mrs. Cooper's home, and the defendant's daughter, Miss Susie Jeffcoat, testified to her character.

Mrs. Cooper's story from the stand dealt with the circumstances of her acquaintance with Thad Pickle and their auto ride to Decatur on Friday afternoon. She denied that either of them were drinking or that there was any liquor in the car. According to her took up the idea with the Atlanta Federation of Trades. It met warm support at the time, but the movement later permitted to lag. Some months ago he revived it and requested Downing and Houser, who are architects for the new cyclorama building at Grant park, to prepare a design and submit it to the board.

By coincidence a similar idea was revolving in the mind of former Councilman and Ex-Officio Park Board Member C. T. Bailey, who was working along the line of formulating an association of civic interests to launch a campaign for the necessary funds.

Undivided indorsement of the board was given to the work of Mr. Garrett and the activity of Mr. Bailey, who was authorized to take up the movement for a public contribution with the different civic bodies.

It was the consensus of the body that since Mr. Grant's gift was a great public benefaction every man, woman and child in Atlanta should be privileged to give for the memorial fund, and by this means a small donation from each of the thousands who would be glad of the opportunity to contribute, would pay for the monument, which, like the park, would be the people's.

asserts that he asked her to let him have the policy so that he could have the name of the beneficiary changed from Edith Ruffin St. John to Edith Ruffin Harrell. She stated that she let him have the policy for that purpose only. Later on she stated, about two days before he died, she asked him about it, and he told her that the company said it would take three weeks to get the change made, but that he would see that she got it back by Saturday, the day on which he killed himself.

She alleges that he took the policy to the company and changed the name to that of Frances Rebecca Harrell and Mary Wight Harrell, without her consent and knowledge, and that he was induced to make the change by fraud, and that at the time he made the change he was "non compos mentis." She also claims that the policy was sent to the company by the children through their mother and guardian, Mrs. Hudson, with the evidence that Harrell was dead, and she asked that the company be enjoined from paying the same to them. She alleges that all the defendants in the case except the insurance company are insolvent.

This is denied in an answer filed by Mrs. Hudson, who cites the fact that she made bond for $30,000 in the ordinary course of her business as guardian for her children.

SCATHING ATTACK ON ALL EXCHANGES

oats, or pork, or coffee, or railroad and industrial stocks, the procedure is the same, the victims get paper contracts from the members of the "exchange" and the said members get the victims. Gangs, operating in Chicago, plainly complain that the attacks now being leveled at the "exchange" are all based on the "exchange" error that gambling and speculation mean the same thing.

"The sill-hatted, frock-coated parasites have grown so powerful that they are able to hire the shrewdest and most able members of the Ananias club in the country to persuade the people, and especially legislatures, that black is white, that speculation is not only honorable but essential to the country's business—indeed, that without it we would all go to the bow-wow. Their success has been remarkable, not surprisingly so, in view of the number of fools in the world who labor faithfully and endure hardships in order that parasites may live in luxury and ease."

"Let us consider some facts and see if the obvious deduction can be made from them."

Turned Over Fourteen Times.

"When a wheat crop of say 750,000,000 bushels is bought and sold on paper contracts, the Chicago gambler will, fourteen times over before a bushel of the crop has moved to market, how in the name of common sense can that help the wheat grower? He has one bushel of wheat to sell. The gambler has one bushel of wheat to buy. The gambler's principle is to buy low and sell high. And these gamblers have the nerve to talk about law or supply and demand, at the very moment that they are fairly known to be selling at a profit of twelve, fourteen or twenty times the actual amount of wheat in existence."

"Consider cotton: For forty years cotton was the backbone of our foreign exports, and rendered priceless service to the country, better than any other commodity in the field."

"In 1888 the New York cotton 'exchange' established the 'future board,' and the gamblers of New York, New Orleans and Liverpool took charge of cotton. A careful study worked out in 1906 showed that in the 18 years from 1888 to 1906, cotton gamblers had cost the cotton producers of the south seven hundred millions of dollars."

Sold $900,000,000 Paper Bales.

"If this same study was brought up to date, it would probably show two hundred millions of dollars of cotton lost to the cotton producer."

"The gamblers have cost the cotton producer at least $50,000,000,000 in the last 15 years."

WRECKERS' TRAIL LOST BY SHERIFF OF FLOYD COUNTY

Rome, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Every claim has been lost to the microscopists who attempted to wreck the Ohio special of the Southern railway a few miles north of Rome at 9:30 o'clock last night. Sheriff Wilson, of Floyd county, who followed the trail left by the band with dogs, announced that the dogs lost the scent Wednesday morning in a negro settlement to the east of Rome.

Fortunately for the 200 passengers aboard the train, not a single coach left the tracks after the leading engine struck a pile of cross-ties, evidently placed with the purpose of robbery. The spot selected is near the river and the tracks are flanked by high embankments.

When T. S. Hicks, engineer of the leading engine of the double-header, saw the ties, he put on all his brakes, but couldn't stop in time to keep from striking the pile. However, every one of the thirteen coaches held the rails.

Do Your Eyes Look Back at You Dull and Drooping? Is Your Complexion Bad?

YOU NEED PEPTO-MANGAN

A Really Wonderful Blood Tonic
That Puts You Back on a Healthy Basis

Your face will tell you how your health is. Muddy complexion and drawn, pale, haggard faces usually mean bad blood, clogged with poison. It is dangerous. Your powers of resistance are low. Disease germs would have an easy time of it.

When you work too hard, you get fatigued. You probably keep it up for days, perhaps months, without feeling any bad effects. Sooner or later it tells in your blood. You are not yourself.

It is then your blood needs the help of that great tonic, Pepto-Mangan. It is a wonderful remedy that physicians have recommended for thirty years.

But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package. You can buy it in liquid form or in tablets, whichever you prefer; one has the same ingredients as the other and gives the same effect.—(adv.)

panied by more than normal difficulty because both parties in the senate have been subject to what they term "too much white house dictation" for the last eight years. They are, therefore, more than normally anxious to reassert their presence and power under the new regime.

Teamwork More Preferable. And sooner or later the conflict may play a very powerful part in cabinet selections Harding makes. Already the word is being passed out of Marion that as between a man who can register teamwork between congress and the executive departments and a man who would arouse animosities at either end of the avenue, Harding would prefer the former even if his qualifications were not so striking as the latter. This has proved distinctly reassuring to certain lieutenants acting as liaison officers between the senate and Marion. It has led them, in fact, to predict that there would not be so many outstanding national figures in the cabinet as has been from time to time seemed likely. Already, they add, there is less talk, for instance, of Charles Dawes as secretary of the treasury, although Hughes still stands as the president-elect's choice for secretary of state.

Parallel Case Cited.

The battle for supremacy now showing its hand for the first time between the senate and Harding, recalls previous contests of a like nature. Wilson possibly illustrated the extreme in white house domination up to the time that it was evident he would not remain in power much longer. Then the senate began to assert itself and run counter to his every wish. The late Theodore Roosevelt had much the same experience. Up to the time it was certain that he was not to run for re-election again, Roosevelt most of the time had congress eating out of his hand and the famous "big stick" was effectively wielded over the two congressional branches of the government. When it was known he was going out, congress, however, became brave and enthusiastically denied his wishes.

Harmony Prevailed. During Taft's administration the supremacy lay altogether at the capitol end of the avenue. McKinley's administration was featured by striking harmony between the executive and legislative branches and friends of Harding say that such harmony is what he is striving for during his administration. He has, however, certain forces to deal with that McKinley did not have. He also has a congress "fed up" on white house domination. And his big task now, say his friends, is to modify the present barrage, which indicates the senate is preparing for an offensive to dominate Harding as it did Taft.

Young Boy Author Speaks
To Spring Street Children

Nephew of Late Judge
Peyton Wade Has Written Four Books and Won Success in Movies and as Lecturer.

HORACE WADE.

Author of four books before his thirteenth year, a lecturer of the American movies, Horace Wade spoke to the children of the Spring street school yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. He will not be thirteen years old until March, but when introduced to the school children Wednesday by Governor Dorsey, he manifested the ease of a young man of accomplishment and delighted the school children with his stories and experiences. These extend from Chicago to the "movie" studios in California; from there to the east, where he has lectured to school children, spoken before big conventions of men, and incidentally has written successfully advertisements for his retail dry goods houses.

This is Horace Wade's first visit to Georgia, of which his father, Edward I. Wade, is a native, a graduate of the University of Georgia, and a prominent lawyer. Horace Wade, of Georgia, the boy was born in Chicago, and when his first book was published he began to take notice of him, and to watch his career.

Well-known editors wrote him congratulatory letters. Irving Cobb greeted him as a comrade, and Booth Tarkington wrote him a letter of premeditation with the young writer with four books to his credit within less than a year.

His parents, who are traveling with him, claim that he has plenty of time for his school work. He has a tutor when he is in "movie" work in California and when his engagements are too large for school hours. He has had a movie play accepted by Mary Pickford, but was a season cool when he met her in New York the other day because she had completely won his heart just at the time she married Douglas Fairbanks.

Young Wade has straight-laced ideas of life, as he is possessed of a great deal of sentiment, although his books contain more of adventure than any other of romance.

His Books. His book, "In the Shadow of Great Peril," which has carried its message even to the literary sanctum of Lyman Abbott, brought from that sage of editorial wisdom advice about "saving his resources," and the statement that there is no reason to suppose the precocious child will not develop a genius.

And this, notwithstanding the experience of Daisy Ashford, the youthful author of "Young Visitors," that young author whose book has been transplanted to the movies, was the one achievement of a child of seven years. Now twenty-seven years of age, and a young British matron, she has no other books to her credit.

Young Wade, on the contrary, has not let his first talents stagnate, but he has kept his wit sharp by writing three books within eighteen months, with the stirring titles, "The Heavy Hand of Justice,"

HARDING BECOMES 32D DEGREE MASON

Twelve-Hour Initiation Ceremony Held in Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, January 5.—President-elect Harding becomes a thirty-second degree Mason tonight at the end of a twelve-hour initiation ceremony here participated in by ranking officials of the order from all parts of the United States. Starting as a Master Mason, the president-elect was raised through the other twenty-eight degrees at a continuous sitting arranged particularly for his accommodation. He was then chosen chief executive to travel through the higher degrees of Masonry before he leaves for his inauguration, James A. Garfield and William McKinley having been given their thirty-second degrees here.

At the conclusion of the ceremony late tonight Mr. Harding was presented with a Masonic lodge by the thirty-second degree Masons of Marion, his home town, who had occupied one of his rooms in the initiation. He may return here Friday to receive membership in the Mystic Shrine.

Motors from Marion. With Mrs. Harding the president-elect motored here from Marion this morning, his only conference before leaving home being with Fred Upham, of Chicago, treasurer of the republican national committee. He will go back by motor tomorrow morning. His host for the night here was Malcolm Jennings, a life-long friend, who was attached to Harding headquarters during the campaign.

It became known here tonight that in continuing his conferences at Marion Mr. Harding will make at least two more trips to the army and navy appropriations and preparedness in general one of the principal subjects to be discussed with his callers. In the near future he is expected to see Representative Kahn, chairman of the house military committee, and Representative Butler, chairman of the house naval committee, in addition to various other members of congress who are influential in the framing of military and naval legislation.

Has Talked With Wadsworth. The president-elect already has talked over the subject with Senator Wadsworth, chairman of the senate military committee, with several members of the senate naval committee, and with representatives who have charge of the framing of appropriations for the army and navy. Upon all of these he has urged the advisability of keeping such appropriations as national security permits.

The whole policy of military and naval preparedness is linked with the question of disarmament under a possible world agreement, and it is understood this broader aspect of the situation is constantly in Mr. Harding's mind as his conferences continue. It is said to be his hope that an association of nations will make the preparedness problem easier to solve, and that in consequence a working temporary policy that will keep the nation safe until international conditions are clarified.

COOSA IMPROVEMENT
ABANDONMENT ASKED

At Some Future Time the Entire River May Be Improved.

Washington, January 5.—Improvement of the Coosa river between Rome, Ga., and Gadsden, Ala., is "not worthy of being continued," and "except for the lock and dam at Mayors bar, should be abandoned," a board of army engineers, which investigated the project, said today in a report to the speaker of the house.

"While locks and dams below Gadsden are of little commercial value," the report stated, "and their maintenance is hardly justified, the board realizes that they represent a large outlay of money and if entirely abandoned would soon go to ruin."

"The board considers it possible that at some future time the improvement of the entire river may be undertaken on some comprehensive basis in connection with waterpower development and since any such plan would include navigation, the existing locks and dams might be of use."

EDMONDSON INDICTED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Rolfe Edmondson, the Atlanta newspaper man and civilian policeman, who shot and killed C. E. Bowen on New Year's eve, was Wednesday indicted by the Fulton county grand jury for murder.

Edmondson was said to have been aiding a night watchman in selecting Bowen, who was the son of Building Inspector C. J. Bowen, and a companion from The Journal building when the tragedy occurred. Edmondson claims he was attacked by Bowen and his pistol was accidentally discharged.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories tested, approved and most enthusiastically indorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow, and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—(adv.)

Mayor of Athens, Work Well Done, To Give Up Post

Andrew C. Erwin, After Wonderful Record of Constructive Achievements, Announces Early Retirement Because of Private Interests.

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) At a joint meeting of the mayor and the old and new council of the city of Athens today at noon Mayor Andrew C. Erwin began his first-year of his second term as mayor, and at the same time announced his intention of resigning as soon as the budget for 1921 is fixed and the affairs of the city are running smoothly for the new year.

Coming from one of Athens' distinguished families, Mr. Erwin was elected mayor of Athens in 1917, without opposition, that being the first time in the history of the city the office had ever gone to a man without opposition at his first attempt for the office. Before the election in 1919, Mr. Erwin declined to stand for re-election on account of business connections, but the people of the city almost unanimously petitioned him to again head the city government and it was under this pressure that he finally consented, again having the honor of being elected without opposition.

His decision now to retire is again brought about by his personal business, since he is connected with some of the largest commercial enterprises in the city. In losing him the city will suffer the loss of one of the best officials she has ever had as a head.

During the past three years, while he has been mayor, the city has made great progress in every department.

Deficit Wiped Out.
On January 1, 1918, when he was inaugurated as mayor there was an overdraft of over $100,000 in the city treasury. Since that time this has been completely wiped out and a balance of several thousand dollars accumulated. At the same time improvements have been made in every department of the city. A new incinerator has been installed, the fire department completely motorized, the waterworks overhauled and improved, the equipment of the board of health almost doubled, the salaries of all the city employees greatly increased to meet the increased cost of living, more than $150,000 worth of street paving done by a bond issue, some of the departments of the city have been made more efficient and the salaries of the school teachers increased.

All these improvements were effected without an increase in the tax rate with the exception of the increase in the teachers' salaries, and in this instance the increase given was far in excess of the increased taxes.

Solid Financial Basis.
After sponsoring the improvements that he thought the city needed, Mayor Erwin adopted a slogan of "Let's Pay Our Debts First," and as a result of this policy the city, for the first time in its history, is not financially embarrassed but on a sound and solid financial foundation.

Mayor Erwin did not definitely resign in his message today, but announced his intention of doing so in the next 30 or 60 days. It is expected that at an early date he will tender his formal resignation to council after three years of constructive service to the government of the city.

The members of the board of aldermen for 1921 are: B. Crane, P. H. Conolly, W. W. Beacham, R. D. Dottery, A. E. Davidson, K. A. Hill, S. H. Dunbar and E. C. Culpeper.

Mrs. Kate Coleman Wakefield Resigns Big Baptist Position
Corresponding Secretary of Woman's Missionary Union of Georgia Convention Has Done Big Work in State.

BY LOUISE D. NEWTON.
Mrs. Kate Coleman Wakefield, for the past two years corresponding secretary of the Woman's Missionary Union of Georgia, has tendered her resignation to the executive board of the state to take effect January 15.

Mrs. Wakefield came to Georgia in April, 1919, from Kentucky, where she had been the secretary of the W. M. U. in that state for four years. She had done much to enlarge the work of the women in Georgia, and was considered a very valuable asset to the state.

Since she became secretary in Georgia, the membership of the women has increased in a remarkable degree. The number of local organizations has doubled. The Georgia conference has increased its first year from 1,351 to 1,758 and during the year just closing the total number of local organizations of this department totaled 2,251. This is regarded by the leaders in the department as a great tribute to the work of the various district and local organizations.

Have Trebled Gifts.
The Baptist women of Georgia, under Mrs. Wakefield's leadership, have trebled their gifts during the last twelve months. In the Baptist women's department, the Georgia conference has been able to build up with the co-operation of the various district and local organizations which she has been able to build up with the co-operation of the various district and local organizations.

Mrs. Wakefield has been editor of "The Missionary Messenger," the monthly organ of the W. M. U. work in Georgia, which began with February 1919. She has given to this magazine, which is one of the most important positions in the Christian Index, the most important positions in the Christian Index.

Her work as secretary has taken her to every community in the state and she has made friends everywhere.

RUSSIAN CHILDREN GIVEN ADMISSION
Trial of Case on Its Merits Ordered by the Labor Department.

Washington, January 5.—Having obtained from the labor department an order for temporary admission to the United States of the seven Russian children he has tentatively selected, Admiral McGilly, former American high commissioner at Sebastopol, left tonight for Washington to appear in court.

The children, now at Ellis Island and bringing them to his Washington home, the admiral said he would deposit immediately the $5,000 bond required in the case of each of the children as assurance that they will not become public charges and will receive a proper education.

Admiral McGilly plans to keep the children at his home here until their right to remain in the United States has been fully established by hearings of the case on its merits ordered before labor department officials. Afterward, he will take them to his boyhood home in Anderson, S. C., to introduce them to his mother, who will assume temporary charge of the children while the officer is refurnishing his Washington home for their permanent residence.

Asked if it was his intention formally to adopt the children, Admiral McGilly said that such was his intention if they have no legal bar. He had attended, he said, to all legal matters in Russia connected with the children, including the obtaining of necessary papers from several Russian cities, orphanages and government officials. In two cases it was necessary to obtain the consent of the parents, the officer said, but no difficulty was encountered because of the terrible conditions in the region in which the children were living and the desire of the parents to obtain for their children a new chance in life in the United States.

"These children are but isolated cases among hundreds and thousands of similar ones," said Admiral McGilly. "I did not carefully select these seven, but when I came away I decided that I should do something and I took the first I came to, although in several cases I had met the children previously and had become attached to them. There were three others I wanted to bring, but one had tuberculosis, and I knew would not be admitted to this country. In another case the mother gave her consent to my adopting the child and at the last moment withdrew it, and in the third case the mother consented, saying she did not care what became of the child, but the father refused to part with it."

The admiral said he had "called a family council" to meet at Anderson and added: "I hope that my niece, who was educated at Smith college and is admirably qualified to direct their training, will take over the big job of supplying the necessary feminine influence in their lives, but because it is a great proposition I had rather have her name not be mentioned until I have her consent. She will probably accept."

Wage Reduction.
Gloversville, N. Y., January 5.—A wage reduction ranging from 20 to 33 1-3 per cent and affecting all workers in the leather dressing and tanning industry here was announced by the manufacturers today.

Anderson Is Slated Head of the Juvenile Protective Association

The annual meeting of the Juvenile Protective association which was held at the Ansley hotel Wednesday morning was opened with a prayer by Rev. J. H. Eakes, after which the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

J. L. Anderson presented his report as secretary, and Mr. Jackson, general secretary, gave a lengthy report, his showing that he had traveled in several southern states and had collected $8,664.38 for the cause.

Mr. Jackson's report showed that branches of the association had been formed last year in Orlando, through the efforts of Mrs. E. E. Eakes, and that probation officers and big brothers and sisters were selected through the efforts of the association in a large number of cities over the south.

General Clifford L. Anderson was re-elected president of the association; Rev. S. R. Bell, first vice president; Judge J. F. Frazier, second vice president; Dr. E. N. Lowe, Oxford, Miss., third vice president; H. Clay Bagley, Atlanta, treasurer, and Mr. Jackson, general secretary.

Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Sr., of Atlanta, was elected on the advisory board to succeed Mrs. A. P. Cates. Mrs. O. C. Bulloch, of Columbus, was elected on the board to succeed her husband, Mrs. James L. Key, wife of Mayor Key, of Atlanta, was added to the board.

New Witness Testifies.
Another witness arrived in Atlanta Wednesday and told how the "may or" had been admitted to the defense and then in an alleged business deal had won his money. At the same time it became known that county officers who searched the house of Floyd Woodward, at 8 Angler avenue, found evidence bearing out his claims. Woodward is under indictment for his part in the operation of several of the "stores" around Atlanta.

The new witness will go before the grand jury this morning. Solicitor Boykin Wednesday was preparing certain information which was gone over by the November term jury to review to the January jury in order that the latter will be able to take up the probe and know something of what has been done by the retiring jury.

The new jury will probably have sessions every day and the work of the investigation will progress as rapidly as compatible with the number of witnesses who are to be examined.

A number of men and women were summoned to appear before the jury Thursday. These witnesses are expected to give valuable evidence to the investigators. No new indictments are expected for several days.

will be officially introduced and installed, as will the eight new directors and the three new vice presidents.

Many attractive musical and entertainment features are being arranged and the Boy Scouts of the city have agreed to attend and assist as ushers or in any other capacity wherein they are needed. It is also planned to have the wives and friends of all the members attend.

Mel Wilkinson, president of the Presidents' club; Lee Ashcraft, president of the chamber of commerce, and Ivan Allen, at a senator, were called on to interest commercial bodies of Atlanta in the movement. Mr. McCord declared that all three had expressed hearty support of his suggestion, and would place the matter before the commercial organizations.

"This war finance board, as I understand it," said Mr. McCord, "is organized primarily to stimulate foreign trade relations between European countries and the agricultural interests of the south and west. It is therefore of paramount importance that the south be represented on the board and by an able man who has an intimate insight into foreign affairs."

It appears to me that Senator Smith is ideally equipped for this work. During his entire senatorial career he has kept in the most intimate touch with the southern farmer, while he has made a deep study of the farmers' relations to European trade.

No matter what our past political differences may have been, I think we can all agree on Senator Smith's ability, and I hope that we can get behind him so that he will be named before President Wilson goes out of office.

Senator Smith has less than two months left to serve in the senate, and if he is appointed, I am sure that he will immediately begin effective work for our section in particular.

DR. BLACKWELL MADE HALL HEALTH OFFICER

Hall county has established a county health department, and Dr.
B. D. Blackwell, of LaGrange, has accepted the position of health officer according to an announcement made Wednesday by the state board of health.

Dr. T. T. Abernethy, state health officer, has just returned from Washington, Ga., where he urged the establishment of a health department in Wilkes county. Before accepting the office in Hall county, Dr. Blackwell was health officer of Troup county, and it will be necessary for this vacancy to be filled at an early date.

NEGRO SHOT TO DEATH IN RESISTING ARREST

Sam Roberson, negro, of 270 Martin street, was killed at an early hour Wednesday morning by Patrolmen J. E. Wiley and L. J.
Brooks, who assert that they caught him in the act of entering the Mann grocery store at Angler avenue.

At the time of the shooting, according to statements by the officers, the negro was advancing upon them with a hatch saw, after attacking them with a drawn cleaver and being beaten off. They saw him enter the store and found him crouching behind a barrel.

COCA-COLA MEN WILL STUDY ADVERTISING

Sales Managers Will Conduct Divisions to Inspect Fountain Decorations.

The 200 representatives of the Coca-Cola company assembled in Atlanta for the annual sales convention will devote today exclusively to a study of advertising and Friday, the final day, will be given to division sales conferences at the Ansley hotel.

This afternoon the sales managers will conduct their divisions to inspect the fountain decorations of the Polyanna Soda Shop, Peachtree Soda company and Franklin & Cox, considered the best examples to be found in the city. The day will be closed by a banquet and dance at the Druid Hills Golf club.

Wednesday was devoted to discussion of an intensive selling campaign for 1921 outlined by Harrison Jones, vice president, in charge of sales; and an enlarged advertising campaign in magazines and newspapers for the new year, presented by W. C. D'Arcy, head of the St. Louis agency managing advertising for the company.

The rather humorous feature of the day session was a presentation of sales problems as met by various representatives in different parts of the United States and Canada in a playlet entitled, "The Call on the Jobber."

C. E. Culpepper, New York manager, reported that only one chain of fountains and two separate concerns in New York city are not serving coca-cola across their counters.

At the new plant at North avenue and Plum street a modern soda fountain has been erected where coca-cola is served to guests. Lunchcon is served daily to members of the convention.

HARVEY AND LEWIS, HELD AS ROBBERS, FREED BY POLICE

J. C. Harvey, 22 years old, and J.
R. Lewis, 21, both of 565 Whitehall street, were freed shortly after their arrest on Tuesday, charged with complicity in the robbery of J. E. Wall, there being no evidence on which to hold them. They state that the incident has been very embarrassing to them and that they know nothing of the affair.

Chamber of Commerce Realty Company Votes 4 Per Cent Dividend

A dividend of 4 per cent was voted on the preferred stock of the Chamber of Realty company, an organization which owns the building occupied by the Atlanta chamber and the offices of other civic bodies, after the directors had fully discussed the 1920 financial report at their meeting Wednesday.

When the building was purchased several years ago a loan was placed upon it and for the past two or three years several payments have been made on this loan. The property has increased tremendously in value and every office in the building has been filled for a considerable time. The directors expressed the opinion that though the financial returns were not sufficient to warrant paying a larger dividend the stockholders were entitled to such a dividend as could be declared.

The stock in the company is very widely held among the business men of Atlanta, most of it in lots of less than five shares and was originally purchased more as a matter of civic duty to provide the chamber of commerce with a suitable home than as a financial investment. The chamber of commerce itself owns the common stock in the realty company, but does not share in this dividend. It pays a fixed rental as do all other tenants of the building.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly
The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup, or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly breaks the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Enjoyable Lecture-Recital Given by Miss Marion Rous

Taking one's pleasures seriously had a reversal yesterday in Miss Marion Rous' lecture-recital before the Music Study club, when this very clever young woman and able musician gave her large audience opportunity to acquire some serious and solid musical information in a manner, which, far from being laborious, was almost casual, and very apparently enjoyable.

Miss Rous, who is at the head of the music department of Rollins college of Winter Park, Fla., made her impression on Atlanta's music-lovers last year in a lecture-recital which compared the scientific of the most radical of the present-day composers.

Yesterday her theme was "Program Music. Old and New," and the treatment of it strengthened her in the approval of an audience of good judgment.

She showed the place which program music holds in musical literature, and the perpetual fight between the opponents of music of this character and of absolute music. She drew some of her illustrations from types dating as far back as the year 1700, and threw her hearers into gasps of laughter with "The Battle of Prague," which Mark Twain immortalized in his description of the battle.

The descriptive methods of Saint-Saens, Debussy, Prokofieff, the English lord, Bernard, who very broadly depicts humor in music; Arthur Foote, MacDowell, through his Brer Rabbit, and finally Grieg, she differentiated through typical compositions of each, and her performance of these works and the two-fold interest of illustrations and of very enjoyable pianistic feats, the compositions are some of them difficult to play, as in those cases where the theme for the right hand is in one key and the left in another, and melody and rhythm are of an unconventional character which provide none of the usual sequence as an art.

Miss Rous was eminently at her ease in every instance, and her very pleasing voice and personality added charm to her work.

The recital was held in the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church annex, and a crowded house applauded the artist.

Harris-Symmes.
A lovely home wedding of recent date in Wilmington, N. C., was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Harris, in Dock street, when their daughter, Miss Mary Bolles Harris, became the bride of Mr. John Symmes, eighth son of Judge Courtland Symmes, of Brunswick.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert E. Kribben, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert E. Kribben, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert E. Kribben.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a becoming dress of navy blue serge with hat of henna duvyn and her bouquet was of American Beauty roses and valley lilies. The bride had as her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Evelyn Harris, who wore a dress of navy crepe de chine and her flower girls were Misses Helen and Margaret Harris, who wore dresses of pink tulle.

The dame of honor, Mrs. Andrew H. Harris, Jr., was crowned in brown lace with a corsage of yellow roses tied with yellow tulle. Miss Rebecca Symmes, sister of the groom, acted as luncheon hostess, and the appointments were in brown lace with a corsage of yellow roses tied with yellow tulle.

Armenian Farmers Upon Dixie Lands

New Orleans Association Asks That Immigrants Be Allowed to Settle on Millions of Unwanted Acres.

Washington, January 5.—An appeal from the New Orleans Association of Commerce, requesting amendment to the Johnson bill to permit immigration to settle "millions of acres of vacant land not wanted by American farmers," was received today by the senate immigration committee.

The association said the state department and President Wilson's co-operation were being sought in connection with the scheme to bring Armenian refugee farmers, destitute and dependent upon American charity, at Black sea ports, to these lands of the south.

"We are assured ample charity funds," the appeal said, "to tide such homeseekers over the initial period after arrival."

MAY STILL SECURE $10,000,000 FOR DAM

Sundry Civil Bill May Carry Appropriation for Nitrate Plant.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN.

Washington, January 5.—The great Muscle shoals nitrate plant will not be scrapped, as has been intimated in press dispatches.

There now appears a strong probability that the senate will add to the sundry civil bill, when it reaches that body, the $10,000,000 requested for the completion of the Wilson dam, as an indication after all, of a congressional disposition to complete the great Alabama nitrate plant upon which millions have already been spent. This amendment, while purposely left out of the sundry bill by the committee, and vigorously fought on the floor of the house by Fordney and other republican leaders, lacked only seven votes of carrying, the democrats of the south and west standing solidly for it, while the four New York democrats refused to support it. On the other hand, there were several southern democrats absent, notably four from Georgia, and it is today figured that if the senate will insert the Muscle shoals provision and send it back to the house, the latter will pass it despite its former action. There is every reason to hope, therefore, that even though many of the old republican leaders in congress are apparently determined to fight everything in which the south is interested, the great nitrate plant will not be scrapped, but eventually completed for the purpose of furnishing nitrates to the farmers of the nation at the actual cost of production.

It is needless to say the major fertilizer manufacturers had a strong lobby in Washington in opposition to the measure and will fight it with equal vigor in the senate.

YOUR INVISIBLE GUEST

THE CHILDREN SUFFER MOST FROM THE WAR

His shoulders are not strong enough to bear the burden of the war.

He is one of the 3,500,000 children in Europe who must die of starvation this winter unless we send help.

The life of your son or brother—

Is it worth ten dollars?

Your little daughter or sister—

Can a money value be placed on her life?

Or perhaps you are thinking of a tiny mound in the family resting place.

You know—

If ten dollars will save a little child from dying you will gladly give the ten dollars.

A ten dollar bill will save one life.

One hundred dollars will save ten.

One thousand dollars will save a hundred.

Think of the joy of having one hundred little children who would starve without your help as your invisible guests for dinner every day this winter.

Could you enjoy a good cigar—

Would your automobile give you any pleasure—

Should you have three square meals a day—

If for the sake of these or because of indifference—

You leave little children to die of cold and hunger?

A MODEL MAYOR.
Mayor Andrew C. Erwin, of Athens, announced yesterday at a meeting of the new council of that city his intention of resigning as soon as the budget for the new year is fixed and the affairs of the city are running smoothly for the new year.

It is doubtful if the mayor of any Georgia city has ever made a better record than that made by Mr. Erwin, as mayor of Athens.

The report of the city treasury, as submitted yesterday, showed that the more than $100,000 debt standing against the city when Mayor Erwin was first inaugurated in January, 1918, has been paid, notwithstanding the fact that extensive improvements have been made in every department of the city and the salaries of all city employees have been increased to meet the increased cost of living. In addition to this, the city has paid through a bond issue $150,000 for street paving, and in general efficiency the administration of the affairs of the city are conducted on a basis that has been taken as a model for other Georgia municipalities.

This is a record of which any official might well be proud. Indeed, it is so good that we will be surprised if Mayor Erwin's associates in council, and the citizens of Athens, permit him to follow his inclination to resign before the expiration of his term.

The achievements of a city official who has to his credit such an unusual record belongs not only to the city directly interested, but to the state, which shares the admiration of the people of the community in which he lives and to which he has given such splendid service.

THE CASE OF ROBOS.
Demetrius Robos is an alien who was denied admittance to the United States a few days ago because he could not pass muster under the literacy test that is required under the new immigration law.

This was not the first time Robos had applied for the privilege of trading American soil. Ten years ago he came here, was admitted, and while living in Philadelphia he was drafted and inducted into the American army, in 1918. He was trained in an army camp, and as a "first-class fighting man," he was sent to France with the American Expeditionary forces, where he distinguished himself by valorous service, and was twice wounded in battle.

Had he returned within six months after obtaining his discharge overseas he would have been readmitted without examination; but he waited too long, and the other day when he again sought to resume his former place in American society he was stopped at Ellis island.

Asked if he could read the statutory "forty words in any language," Robos was compelled to answer "No."

Then, asked if he "understood" the English language, his laconic and eloquent reply was:

"Well, I understood 'orders in the army!'"

His case has been appealed to the secretary of labor, who has jurisdiction over the nation's ports; for Robos likes America and is determined, if possible, to resume his erstwhile civilian status here.

Certainly, he should be allowed to do so; for it is unjust and ridiculous for the law to say that any honorable man shall be denied shelter under the flag for which he has fought, and for which he scars upon his body attest his willingness to die!

If our present immigration law says that, or permits enforcement officials insufficient leeway in interpreting it to enable them to admit such a patriot as Robos' military record proves him to be, then it is high time to change it.

ANIMALS AND KINDNESS.
On last Christmas eve a man was arrested in New York for carrying a live turkey, head down, through the streets.

The arrest was made at the instance of an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; and the offender was compelled to spend several uncomfortable hours in jail before being discharged by the judge.

At the trial the unfortunate prisoner was able to prove that he was a good and benevolent citizen that, in fact, the turkey he was charged with treating inhumanely had been bought by him for a poor family, and that he was in the act of personally delivering it as a philanthropic "surprise" when he was arrested.

Those undisputed points in the man's favor did not, of course, alter the fact that the turkey was made to suffer by being carried head down. They simply go to show how thoughtless so many good people are prone to be in their every-day association with dumb animals.

Headlessness and indifference to the physical comfort of members of the kingdom next below man ought to be overcome; and, if, in the process of correcting them, temporarily unpleasant consequences are visited occasionally upon well-meaning citizens, such citizen should only feel gratification in knowing that their community is being served by those who have the dumb beasts' welfare at heart.

Commenting editorially upon the incident, The Brooklyn Standard Union said that, trifling as it was—

"It serves to point out that there are good people, some perhaps overzealous, who are always watching out to prevent cruelties to our dumb animals. We need citizens of this type. Every day horses, dogs, cats, etc., are mistreated by thoughtless or indifferent owners, and it is well to have citizens who see that no unwarranted harshness is practiced on animals."

Our Brooklyn contemporary went on to say, very truthfully, that—

"The manner in which domestic animals are treated is in a measure indicative of a people's civilization. Cruelties have no place in this city or country, and the relatively small number of folks who inflict needless pain should be made to pay a penalty."

In his or her everyday affairs of life the average citizen permits too much cruelty to pass, if not unnoticed, uncorrected.

And every instance of it only suggests the community value of organizations devoted to the prevention of cruelty, such, for instance, as the Humane society, in Atlanta; and emphasizes the need for more extensive and intensive humane instruction in our public and private schools.

Since Senator Harding took the cabinet-making process into his confidence he has found it hard work to get a word in edgewise.

To Italy's "fatal gift of beauty," add: "Poets."

A "tomato can bank" robbery reported from Philadelphia. The victim, who lost all his savings, forgot that burglars are also equipped with can openers.

The Boston Globe well defines "practical optimism": "Practical optimism is taking off your coat and working like the devil to make times better."

Better to ride the old-fashioned water wagon than to publicly patronize the moonshine patrol.

The best word from the New Year is that the gold's in the land, and there's plenty of room to dig.

It took a long time for the H. C. L. to accept the mourner's bench invitation.

The Dallas News said it in a nutshell in this: "Probably the most costly travel in the world is by automobile with a fool for a driver."

Look for the announcement in the literary columns: "Flume: A Tragedy, by Gabriel D'Annunzio."

A flying torpedo has been patented. It is as dangerous to be all in the air as it is to be all on the earth.

Those who did their New Year resolving early will have more time to wonder why they went on record.

The government's verdict as to the hair tonic substitutes is that they raise more hair than hair.

The Pussled Poet.

This springtime weather gets me—

And yet I'm half afraid

To tell the world the violets

Are out on dress parade!

I'm good friends with the weather man,

And yet, how do I know

But what, when I sing "Roses,"

He's planning big for snow?

All signs go so contrary!

I wouldn't place a bet

On a blizzard or a blizzard.

Or a "forward violet."

I think I'll just be thankful—

To the sunshine lift my hat.

Sidelong the song of roses

And let it go at that!

Speaking of Father.

Here's a brand new view of the "Father" question as Editor Jack

Blanton, of The Monroe Appeal, sees it:

"Why not hand out a hint by way of tribute to the service rendered to this nation by the stern old fathers of bygone days, inquires a regular reader. It probably is because we had never given thought to the matter. But those austere old fathers really are entitled to a word of praise. Because they were so stern and exacting thousands of fine young fellows quit the old home trees and went out into the world to make their own way, becoming governors, senators, ranchers, capitalists and all sorts of other successful things; whereas, if father had been a good fellow, who encouraged the boys to fish and hunt and have a little fun between taxes, they would have stuck with him, and lived out their lives as star boarders at his festal board!"

The Pleasant World.

I don't care what they're sayin'—

It's a pleasant world all

'round.

An' silver bands are playin', an' the blessin' comin' down!

There's more o' love an' laughter,

though sorrows seldom miss.

An' 'twill be a bright hereafter

If it's half as sweet as this!

We don't forget the trouble—it makes mist around the eyes.

But, when one star is settin', don't you know one more'll rise?

We're in love with past an' present, we're in love with all that is.

An' bright will be the next world

If it's half as sweet as this!

So, sing your halleluia, an' let the music roll!

For all the sunshin'—let it slimmer in your soul!

For all its tribulations, the world has much of bliss.

An' the next world will be jolly,

If it's half as fine as this!

Talking It Over.

These New Year notes by The

Thomasville Times-Enterprise: man:

"Sure the world is growing better. If you don't believe it look at yourself."

The married man that doesn't know who's boss in his own home doesn't stay there long enough to find out.

The golden rule will work in business. A lady short-changed us, and when she ran us down to give it back, we purchased some more just to show her that we knew she didn't intend to.

On the Right Track.

I'm goin' to tell the Good Times—

Next time they come my way:

"I'm rollin' of my sleeves up—

I'll work to make you stay!"

Don't ever think to leave me.

While I'm takin' holiday."

Close Call.

According to Tennyson J. Daft, it's dangerous business to feed a host on the fat of the land. And here's why:

"A hard received a can of cake; a gift, 'twas, from a friend.

It made that poet's stomach ache,

and well-nigh caused his end.

It gave him nightmare awfully, and helped his sleep to cheat.

It also set him crazy with chronic yelps to eat.

Oh, when you do a kindly deed, try to be wise and show it.

Give food to common mortals, and only praise a poet."

When Brains Beat It.

"Three Kentuckians were killed in a fight over a dog," says The Newport Independent. "The dog is the best of the breed. He is the best of the breed. He is the best of the breed. He is the best of the breed. He is the best of the breed. He is the best of the breed.

The vision of its vanished glory."

The New Year chimes its merry

bells:

With happy hearts new friends

are meeting;

We leave the Old Year with farewells.

We bid the New Year joyous greetings;

So runs the round of all the years—

The good we find would keep and treasure;

Though rainbow'd in the light of tears.

Our joys are given greater measure.

O Future Year, with dews that ope!

O Yesterday, with waning splendors!

We meet the New with Faith and Hope.

We leave the Old with memories tender!

Bitter New York Life

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

New York, January 5.—The newly built theaters are not separating the smoking rooms for men and women.

It has been found that men and women like to smoke together because the acts and discuss the progress of the play. There is little hesitancy these days in New York women smoking before strangers. They light up with the same sangfroid of the men.

Back in my town, and early impressions are hard to shake, the women who smoked in the presence of men lived in shuttered houses across the railroad tracks and were rarely seen in public except when they came to the theater. They were called "theater girls" and were looked upon with suspicion.

Consequently, I was, to say the least, confused, while killing a little time in the city. I had plenty of theater smoking room to have a going evening gown approach me and smoke a cigarette. My escort has mine and has been called to the telephone.

I offered her my case, she selected one and retired to the divan

where the Japanese boy attendant furnished the light. It was easy to

FEW ESCAPED NET LAID FOR SLACKERS

This Is Statement of Attorney General in Letter to House Judiciary Committee.

Washington, January 5.—Attorney General Palmer has informed the house judiciary committee that the department of justice has "made every effort to procure indictments or information against all persons guilty of violation of the selective service act" and that "it is not believed that any considerable number of persons guilty of a willful violation of the act have escaped the notice of this department and its investigators."

Representative Volstead, chairman of the committee, in announcing receipt of Mr. Palmer's letter, said today it was unlikely the committee would call the attorney general and Secretary Baker to explain the activities of their departments in apprehending slackers, as requested Tuesday by S. W. Gallbreath, commander of the American Legion.

Mr. Volstead said he believed adequate efforts had been made to arrest draft violators and that he did not believe men should be "branded" as slackers in published lists until they had been tried and convicted.

In his letter Mr. Palmer said he was opposed to passage of the pending Watson bill to give the government six instead of three years in which to apprehend slackers, as its constitutionality "appears so doubtful as to make my approval of it inadvisable."

Senate Band Plans to Make It Impossible for Hotels and Rooming Houses to Advance Rates.

BY LOWELL MELLETT.

United News Staff Correspondent. Washington, January 5.—When they kill the fattest calf to celebrate the return of the prodigal party to our nation's capitol March 4, the public will not play the role of the famous but unfortunate child—if a small, but determined, band of United States senators can prevent it. The citizens' insular committee was given notice to this effect Wednesday afternoon.

Their efforts to trim the government's insular appropriation from $50,000 to $10,000, being defeated, the band of senators mentioned turned their attention to another phase of the question. This is the price people pay for the privileges of living in Washington during insular week. Particular reference was made to the price paid for living in a hotel.

Senator Jones, of Washington, led up to the issue by offering a resolution that grandstands be built along Pennsylvania avenue. He agreed with Senator Nelson, author of a separate bill to the same effect, that it was unfair to allow the view of tens of thousands who cannot afford the high-priced seats to be shut off by the proposed stands. The matter was not decided, being referred to the district committee.

Dance on Plaza. "In my opinion," said Senator Lenroot, "the inauguration should end at the capitol when the president takes the oath of office. I notice in the newspapers the suggestion that a dance be given on the capitol plaza, while the inaugural ball is being held in one of the government buildings. Apparently it is intended that the inaugural ball be attended by the aristocracy while the peasantry dances on the plaza."

Senator McCumber offered a resolution to limit hotel charges to those in force during December and January and to prevent hotels charging for more days than guests actually occupy the rooms.

"Is any protection to be provided," he asked, "for the people who come here against robbery in the shape of hotel charges? A pickpocket may rob a visitor of $50 and if he is caught he will be sent to jail. But a hotel may rob a guest of $100 and do it seven times over."

Senator Jones offered another amendment to the expense resolution directing the district commissioners to regulate the charges of hotels and restaurants during the period between February 23 and March 10. He said he withdrew it, saying he hoped such a measure would be reported out of the committee.

The original provision for spending $50,000 was then adopted. Those who voted earliest to cut the cost to $10,000 were Borah, Fletcher, Gronna, Kenyon, LaFollette, McKellar, Norris and Phelan.

HARDING AGAIN URGED TO PAY ATLANTA VISIT

Dispatches Indicate He Will Be Unable to Attend Tariff Conference.

Although he has been urged by a number of prominent Georgians and southerners to attend the Southern Tariff Association congress in Atlanta, January 17-20, and J. H. Arnold, manager of the organization, personally presented Wednesday the president-elect with an engraved invitation from fifty leading southern editors, Senator Warren G. Harding will be unable to accept, it was indicated in an Associated Press dispatch here late last night from Washington.

The editors' invitation was wired to the president-elect Tuesday, and Mr. Arnold left that evening to personally appear before him at Marion, Ohio, Wednesday. The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce felt assured Wednesday evening that Mr. Harding would accept the invitation, but the senator, in a letter to William J. Harris, Georgia senator in Washington, stated he would be unable to inspect Camp Benning at Columbus because he had refused an invitation to speak at the Southern Tariff congress.

Mr. Volstead said he believed adequate efforts had been made to arrest draft violators and that he did not believe men should be "branded" as slackers in published lists until they had been tried and convicted.

In his letter Mr. Palmer said he was opposed to passage of the pending Watson bill to give the government six instead of three years in which to apprehend slackers, as its constitutionality "appears so doubtful as to make my approval of it inadvisable."

the south of China to the divergent views and policies of these two leaders. Dr. Young declared that President Tui Sai Chong is an imperialist who would gladly set up a monarchy despite the contrary desires of his people, while President San Yan is thoroughly imbued with democratic principles and wishes to establish a real republic. However, Dr. Young said, the economic improvement which will come next year will undoubtedly wipe out in advance of that in America this year and that the silk and tea crops also will be unusually good. "But I am very glad to get back to Atlanta again," he concluded.

ALLEGED SNATCHER OF PURSE IS HELD UNDER HEAVY BOND

John Willis, of 235 West Mitchell street, was Wednesday afternoon held under $25,000 bond by Recorder Johnson, upon a charge of robbery preferred by Floyd Daniels, an old negro, of 44 Larkin street. Daniel asserts that while walking down Decatur street in company with two other negro men early Wednesday afternoon Willis thrust his hand into Daniel's coat pocket and snatched his pocketbook. The old negro drew a knife, he says, and threatened to "cut Willis' head off" if the other did not return his pocketbook. The young negro returned the purse, it is said, and fled. He was caught by Officer Samuel E. Woodson, however, who, with Detectives Kirk and Whitley, brought the man to police headquarters.

MEDICATED SMOKE DRIVES OUT CATARRH

A Pleasant Remedy. No Cabs. No Tobacco. Inexpensive. Clears Out the Head, Nose, Throat.

Dr. Blosser is the originator of a certain combination of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries to be smoked in a pipe or ready prepared cigarette which is meeting with unusual success in catarrhal troubles. The smoke-vapor reaches all the air passages of the head, nose and throat. As the disease is carried into these passages with the air you breathe, so the antiseptic, healing vapor of this remedy is carried with the breath directly to the affected parts.

This simple, practical method applies the medicine where sprays, douches, ointments, etc., cannot possibly go. Its effect is soothing and healing, and is entirely harmless, containing no tobacco, tobacco, or habit forming drugs. It is pleasant to use, and not sickening to those who have never smoked. It is a sufferer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or subject to frequent colds, you should try this remedy without delay.

A trial packet size of Dr. Blosser's Remedy (20 cigarettes) at an apothecary or drug store for 35c. Or, send coin or stamps to The Blosser Co., 46 D. S. Atlanta, Ga., and they will send you a package postpaid. (adv.)

Washington, January 5.—A total of 2,325,000 workers are out of employment in the country, according to a survey of the industrial situation made by Clint C. Houston for the current issue of Labor, official organ of the Plumb Plan league. Mr. Houston asserts that his inquiry disclosed the greatest industrial slump since the money panic of 1907.

He larger groups of unemployed by industries given by the survey were:

Building trades, 300,000; automobiles, 250,000; textiles, 225,000; clothing, 150,000; railroads, 200,000; steel and iron, 150,000; shipping, 125,000; food products, 100,000; amusements, 15,000; metal mining, 50,000; ship building, 50,000; rubber, 50,000; shoes and leather, 50,000; printing, 50,000; casual labor, 50,000.

HOUSTON WAS FOR YEARS
WELL KNOWN CITIZEN HERE.

Clint C. Houston, was for several years a resident of Atlanta. He served two terms in the Georgia legislature, and was for a time known men in the state. For fifteen years he was the secretary and treasurer of the Atlanta Typographical union. During the past four years Mr. Houston has been editor of the Denver Labor Bulletin, and has made his home in the Colorado city.

Whisky Worth Quarter Million Seized in Raid

New York, January 5.—The biggest liquor raid in this city since the Volstead act went into effect was made here today when $250,000 worth was seized by federal agents at the wholesale establishment of Singer Brothers on lower Third avenue.

Scores of cases of champagne and wines with hundreds of cases of whisky constituted the stock seized.

Joseph Walsh, a driver, and Moe Herman, a clerk, employed by Singer Brothers, were arrested. No charges were made against Louie and Joseph Singer, members of the firm. The firm, according to enforcement agents, had a permit to transport liquor, but Walsh is alleged to have made deliveries without authorization.

Herman was taken in connection with alleged changes in office records of liquor receipts.

Over Snow Trails Naval Balloon Men Beating Way South

After Thrilling Adventure in Air, Freight With Hardships, They Are Nearing Outposts of Civilization Again.

Cochran, Ontario, January 5.—Somewhere on the snow-packed trails that lead from the lone Hudson Bay post, Moose factory, near where they descended twenty days ago after a great adventure in the air, three American naval balloonists were beating their way tonight toward this outpost of northern civilization.

In striking contrast to the stormy nights of the past two weeks, a full moon cast its gleaming rays over the snow tonight, the thermometer registered but a few degrees below zero and hardened veterans of the north country predicted the party would make better time.

While some men here express the belief that the Indian guides of the balloonists' party will follow the trail down the Missinabi, the same pursued by the Indian runners that first brought news to the world of the airman's safety, others, especially those who have come in for trading in the last few days, said the Abitibi river trail, which leads into this town, was in better shape for travel.

With the clearing of the skies tonight a number of relief parties, each accompanied by one or more newspaper men, put out on the trail that leads northward, hoping to meet the party in a day or so.

Relief parties carried extra dog teams and fresh food and were led by experienced "mushers" that their progress might be rapid. Due to the inexperience in the north of the three naval officers, their progress on the trip, seemingly short in point of miles, but always fraught with danger and hardships, naturally is slow.

TWO MURDER CASES SLATED FOR HEARING

Smith and Corbett to Appear Before Bibb Criminal Court, January 11.

Macon, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Two white men, Emmitt L. Smith and John L. Corbett, will be tried on indictments charging murder during the trial of the Bibb Criminal Court, which convenes next Monday.

Smith, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. M. E. Marsh, better known as Ethel Kelly, will go on trial Tuesday, January 11. Smith was arrested here a few days ago, and will base his defense on the ground of insanity, it being alleged he had been mentally unbalanced since he fell from a motorcycle several years ago, fracturing his skull.

Mrs. Marsh was shot and killed while seated in an automobile in Wall street alley several months ago, having gone there to upbraid Smith for having attempted to have her daughter, Minnie Mae Marsh, arrested. Smith also shot the younger woman and she died a few days later, but her death was attributed to pneumonia, physicians testifying that the bullet wounds were not sufficient to have caused death.

The case has attracted widespread attention, Mrs. Marsh being widely known for her charitable acts, and in her younger days was considered an unusually beautiful woman. She had considerable wealth, which goes to her mother, who resides in Atlanta.

Corbett case is the outgrowth of a dispute which arose over the election of Thomas H. Watson to the United States senate, and Le Massengale, a carpenter, were together on election night and after hearing the returns went to the home of Corbett, where an argument arose and the shooting followed. Corbett claims self-defense. He will be represented by Attorneys John R. and W. O. Cooper.

NATION-WIDE HUNT BEGUN FOR SLAYER OF MACON OFFICER

Macon, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Lewis Scrutcher, a negro, is the one who shot and killed City Detective Thomas J. Thompson last Saturday night, according to Chief of Police Martin Thompson, and a nation-wide search for the negro has been put on foot.

Complete descriptions of the negro are being mailed throughout the country, with the information that reward of $525 has been offered for his arrest. The reward was increased $100 today by the pledging of that amount by W. G. Mangham, brother-in-law of the slain officer.

Scrutcher is described as being 22 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weight from 150 to 160 pounds; color, dark ginger; very round face, clean shaven, with knife wound on the left side of his face from near the bottom of the left ear to near corner of the mouth. He was last seen wearing a dark suit of clothes, but as he was recently discharged from the army, he may be wearing a soldier's uniform.

PAT COHEN ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED MURDER

LaGrange, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Pat Cohen, charged with the murder of William F. Howard in southwest LaGrange last Saturday at noon, was lodged in the county jail Wednesday morning by Sheriff John Carley. Fletcher Boyd, who fled with Cohen after the shooting Saturday, was held at Preston, Ga., by the officials there, charged with having liquor in his possession.

Cohen has stated that none of the men under arrest charged with complicity in the crime, had any connection with it. He has consulted Attorneys Hatton Lovejoy and Leon Meadows, who likely will be retained to represent him.

Cohen states that he and Boyd went to Columbus in an automobile, and that Boyd "threw" it blind baggage to Preston. On reaching Preston Sunday they went together to a restaurant and presented a large bill for payment of the check the restaurantier decided that they were suspicious characters, and notified the sheriff of Webster county who held them in custody until they heard from Sheriff Carley, of this city.

FIGHT IS LAUNCHED ON MUSCLE SHOALS BILL IN THE SENATE

Washington, January 5.—Republican senators began a fight on the bill proposing to form a government of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., today, indicating the amount of money in operation of the nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., today by offering amendments which, it adopted, would limit materially the powers of the corporation and the scope of its operation.

Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, proposed amendments which would make the corporation indicate the amount of money invested in Muscle Shoals to date by issuing stocks and bonds to the government of the par value of all money spent on the project. He figured this would mean $20,000,000 in capital stock and $50,000,000 in bonds.

He also wanted products which the plant manufactures limited to the plant and the use of the corporation would be outside the civil service requirements.

Senator Leonard, republican, Wisconsin, suggested that the corporation when formed ought to pay for the department of justice ought to investigate the financial integrity of the funds heretofore spent on the Muscle Shoals project, Senator Kenyon, republican, Iowa, while Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, declared the bill if passed in its present form, would eventually mean the expenditure of an additional $150,000,000.

The department of justice ought to investigate the financial integrity of the funds heretofore spent on the Muscle Shoals project, Senator Kenyon, republican, Iowa, while Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, declared the bill if passed in its present form, would eventually mean the expenditure of an additional $150,000,000.

Looking Ill and Worn,
Constantine Delivers
Message to Parliament

Athens, January 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—King Constantine delivered his message to parliament today, reading it in a halting manner. The ceremony was unusually solemn. Beside him stood Queen Sophie, and in a box above were the princesses in mourning. The meeting of the assembly was made a gala occasion. It was the first time that the king and his family had appeared publicly since their arrival. Police lined the streets from the palace to the chamber of deputies.

The metropolitans arrived at 10:30 o'clock, when the benediction was pronounced on the new constitutional assembly. The ministers, wearing their orders and also the gold-laced court officials, took seats with Premier Rallis on the speaker's platform near the throne, which was the only gilded decoration in the chamber.

Both the king, who was in a marshal's uniform, and the queen looked ill and worn. The queen's heavy expression deepened when Constantine said that the only consolation in the death of Alexander was the wonderful material grandeur of the king's death. There was much cheering before and after the message.

Among the matters to be discussed by King Constantine in the speech from the throne to be delivered before parliament on Wednesday will be the necessity of raising money to keep the army at Smyrna until the end of the year. It is settled, maintenance of friendly relations with the allies, execution of the Serres' treaty and internal harmony.

Immediately after the speech from the throne, parliament will elect a president or creating a new cabinet.
